“ Family,

I am send love and peace your way. Sorry I couldn't be there. I love and miss you all. I'm sure Grant is in heaven having a ball with the rest of the family, or he's entertaining the little children with his fabulous Donald Duck voice :)

Blessings and love as always,

Missi

“ Dear Cheryl, Lisa and Jason,

Please accept my deepest sympathies for Uncle Grant's passing, he was a kind and decent man. I regret the years and miles between us but remember him fondly for the time I knew him well.

The times I remember and think of Grant are: ...when there's a pool party - Grant was always the first one in the pool and the last one out. ...when I play Rummy - our first visit to Virginia Beach for Christmas, Grant stayed up every night playing Rummy with my brother Scott and I (he never let us win by the way)... whenever I hear Donald Duck I think of his impersonation - to tell the truth I never knew what he was saying but he made me laugh every time ...and mostly I remember Grant when I hear someone, like my son Spencer, who has an infectious laugh that fills up a room.

When my father Chuck died in 2009, a close friend told me that the best way to honor him was to live a life he'd be proud of. I will add Grant to that list and hope you do too.

I'm sorry we couldn't be there with you today, but we are with you in spirit.

Very truly yours,

Kevin Wickert

“ Dear Cheryl and family,
We are saddened by Grant's passing but take comfort in knowing he is in the arms of His father.
How many anthems, solos, and cantatas did he sing at Thalia UMC? Far too many to count. Grant's faithful participation in rehearsals and worship services was a blessing beyond measure. His beautiful voice is not stilled for there is no doubt that the angels welcomed him into the heavenly choir.
With love and comfort,
