“ Bev & I met the third day of geometry class sophomore year of high school. The teacher had seated the students alphabetically by last name. Since I arrived in the class two days later, I was seated close to the back of the room across from the 's's. We started talking and it wasn't long before it became apparent that we connected. Soon after, she introduced me to her childhood friend, Mary, and from then on I was included in their activities. Having just moved to Maryland from the Midwest that summer, I especially appreciated Bev and her family taking me under their wing. Many wonderful times were had at their place in Southern Maryland, their home in Hyattsville and during our after high school years. Even after I moved back to the Midwest we stayed in touch & re-connected whenever we were in the same geographic area.

I will always be grateful to Bev for striking up a conversation with me that long ago day in geometry class & including me in her family. She was a good friend & I will miss her & think of her often.

My sympathies to Cappy, Steven and the grandsons.

Rest in peace, dear friend.
