I have so many good memories to outweigh the bad, I thank Adonai for the time I had my boy ! I can always remember his sweet nature and affection. I do wish I could get 1 of his bear hugs again... My heart still hurts so bad, losing my Christopher and watching him go.However , I'm glad we were with him and he wasn't alone with strangers in a hospital.i will never stop hurting or missing or loving my boy; even the little arguments .i will always remember that my boy never held a grudge, or stayed mad long and that he was easy to get along with and sensitive, generous and affectionate. I thank you God for the time I had him ! I miss and love MY SON, MY HEART.* 🌸

I refuse to claim any superstitious belief because any date can bring bad luck when people speak it into their life.... This day is not acknowledged by the Lord either as a bad day! No..... Today is a day of memorial to my brother as any 13th or any other day I want to remember him. “ Chris was a friend a mentor to me. I only ever was able to visit him one, but it was memorable. Our friendship was forged online through a mutual love and interest in audio. I learned so much from him about real high-fidelity stereo, audio engineering, and listening. I was interested audio and music, but Chris showed me what a truly awesome stereo could be. To this day I have never had another listening experience equal what I got to hear in his listening room.

I'm deeply saddened by his passing. I wish I could ask his expertise again. I wish I could share with him the business I'm helping to build where I design listening rooms and audio systems for people. I wish more people could have seen how gifted he was as an engineer, as a designer, and as an artist.

I miss our late night chats that would wander from music, to audio, to politics, to chemistry, and all sorts of other places. As I write this, I'm listening to some of my favorite music through a pair of speakers that I modified with Chris's direction and materials that he sent to me because what I needed wasn't available here.

I hope that I can honor Chistopher's life and legacy through my work in music and audio. I will carry his teachings with me. And if I can, I hope to continue the work that he started many years ago in search of the perfect stereo.

*To his family: I would love to share some memories with you.
Please email me: [jaxvon \[at\] gmail.com](mailto:jaxvon@gmail.com)*

Yours in stereo,

Jackson

We do try to keep in mind all the wonderful memories we have of our sweet son but at the same time it is still so painfull. All I can do is remember the personal gifts God gave my son; his music, his intelligence, his electronic genius & wit. I can remember how funny he could be, how he could make me laugh when i didn't feel like laughing. My son will always be my baby boy & I can still hear him say, Im never going to move out of this house even if I get rich. “ For my precious son, 1 year ago today you went away, my heart cries out for you but all I have are memories, they are so bitter sweet. If only I could hear your gentle voice again & have another hug from you & hear you say, Mom I love you & I could hug you tight & kiss you & tell you too, Oh Christopher Mom loves you too, more than you can ever know

“ The 13th of May, exactly 1 year ago today, God took my precious son from me. It is still so hard to believe he's gone even in this amount of time. I think of my Christopher many hours of each day & night, I dream of him most nights, some dreams are nightmares, some of them are good. All I know for sure is this day 1 year ago was a nightmare from hell for me & Christopher's dad. There are still many, many bad days, lots of pain, then there are some good days when we can think of the things our son use to do to sometimes push our buttons but mostly how funny, intelligent, talented & most of all his sensitivity, kindness & affection he gave. I miss and love MY SON, MY HEART...

“ It is Palm Sunday and another month marking the loss of my sweet son. It is normally time to make certain I have all his favorites for his Easter basket instead Jim & I took Easter flowers out for him. Each of the holidays that come, for the 1st time without our son, makes it so hard to cope. Yet they bring back so many good memories. One of the memories for this day is Christopher as an adult still expected to have & loved to get an Easter basket. I miss and love MY SON, MY HEART...

I wish I could hug my son again & see him coming into the den with me to talk about things I don't really understand, mostly electronics. A photo of my Christopher at 10 months of age I came across a few days ago. I miss and I love MY SON, MY HEART...*

“ Feb. 13, 2014..It's that day again, another month without my baby.. This 13th is my birthday. Last year on this day my boy made me a birthday cake, first one he ever made and it was a good one, especially since it was the first he ever made. This has been a sad birthday for me but I remember last year with a smile too.I wont be making a valentine card this year, My boy liked handmade cards and found some he saved that I had made in past years.He must have put some value on them.I miss all the little things my son did for me and think about them all the time. It has been a painful, sad time and I don't know how long it will be before I can feel better. All I know is I miss my boy, my heart is torn apart, and Christopher will always be my baby !!!! Always in my heart, his spirit in me. I love you MY SON, MY HEART...

“ To Christopher...It is January, your birth month.As your sister thought of for me because I don't like to think of bad days, it is also Monday the 13th, the day & date God called for you. Brings back so many memories, bad & good.Your dad & I always have our worse days on the 13th of each month. Each month I have to write to you even though you can't see what I write, it comforts me a little. The attached photo reminds me of how much you liked you car & spent whole days cleaning & polishing, but then you had to see how fast you could go, lucky it never got messed up on the road. Then there was the sport car hidden in back of the barn you wanted to repair. We miss so many things about you. Right this minute I'm missing the mexican dinners you prepared for us,(I must be hungry).Just doesn't taste the same when I cook. You will always be my baby boy and I miss you and I love you MY SON, MY HEART !!!

“ It was a sad Christmas without my baby. We didn't have him coming down the steps to see what was in his Christmas stocking or open a gift he requested. He wasn't here to have dinner or get excited about a Christmas tree. He loved a pretty tree & every year I tried to make the tree prettier so I could hear him tell me, Mom, I don't think you can top this one. This year my heart wouldn't let me fix a dinner, buy any gifts, send any cards, or put a tree up. My heart is too broken. I could only manage to go to church Christmas eve and think about God and wonder about my baby celebrating Christmas with Jeshua. and when I would see him again. Christopher, I miss you and I love you with all my heart, you will always be my baby boy..MY SON, MY HEART !!!

“ Today marks another month without our son & such a sad month.. We can not even think about celebrating Christmas except to go to church on Christmas Eve. My Christopher will always be my baby & I miss my baby so much. I can't help but think about what my son asked me to save money for, for his Christmas gift this year. Christopher, if there is anyway you can hear me, know I miss you & I love you with all my heart !!! This has been the most painfull, sad few months your dad & I have ever had in our lives being here without your bodily presence. I can feel your spirit in my heart & think I hear you upstairs at night. I feel you in your bedroom & music room but it is not the same as hearing you talk, or playing your guitar or music. What I miss the most is your hugs & saying Mom, I love you. If you were here I would say, have a blessed Christmas; but you are there with Jesus, celebrating more than we ever can here...I Love You MY SON, MY HEART !!!

“ My Baby, it's the 13th again. It is our concert time and it's making the next 2 months so hard to face. Our first holidays without you, I can not go to a concert without you. Maybe sometime in the future I will because I know you would want me to enjoy the music. I think of you almost every minute of every day and I miss you so much. Sometimes I still think I hear you moving around upstairs at night, so guess I'm still having a hard time accepting God called you. You must be enjoying the angelic music and the heavenly life with none of the miseries here on earth, that I'm thankful for. I'm also thankful that I can feel your spirit when I'm in your room and your music room, playing your music or picking up your guitars. I don't know if you can hear me or know my heart is with you from there but I LOVE YOU with all my heart !!!

“ Today is the 13th again. It is still so painful being without you, still so difficult to believe God took you from us. It feels so wrong but I know He had his reason. We miss you so much it is undescrivable. You were such a wonderful son, we have so many fond memories of you. It is so awesome you were not like most young men, never getting in trouble and showing us how caring and affectionate you were. Such good nature, so forgiving, so loving. Your Dad and I feel our hearts have such deep wounds that will never heal, we can only hope over time the pain of losing you will lessen and we will see you again someday. It is an awesome thing we now have a CD of you singing and playing your guitar and hearing you say a few words. My regret is not having a video of you. If only you could be here with us a little while so we could say what is in our heart and know you could hear us. I think back to that last hour, never once did I think you were leaving us, it was unbelievable. All the holidays are coming soon; the times when we would be going to concerts together. I don't know how I will live through this time without you. I miss YOU so much and each month on the 13th the memory of that day just haunts me. You will always be your mama's baby. I miss you, I LOVE YOU so much, MY SON, MY HEART !!!

“ My precious baby, it has been 4 months today since you left us. Wish you knew how beautiful your flowers bloomed, how I finally got pictures of the woodpecker you wanted to get, how your sister is sorry she couldn't spend time with you. How much she , Amber & her family & Laurie has enjoyed your music room, along with me. I wish you knew how much it meant to me & your dad that we found a short recording you made & we can hear your voice when we want, which is often. It is still so hard to believe & yet the pain & heart break is so devastating, even now. It is almost time for the orchestras to start their concerts, I don't think I will be going to any because you wouldn't be with me, 1 more thing we enjoyed together. It is so hard to get through the days without you & at night after your dad goes to bed, I keep expecting you to come downstairs & talk to me & fix your late dinners. Sometimes I think I hear you moving around up there, (Wishful thinking). If you could see your resting place you would probably laugh. Your dad thinks he will go out there 1 day & your whole plot will be filled. You even have a frog playing a guitar, just couldn't resist getting it for you. I talk to you a lot even though you probably cant hear me but, who really knows? Only God... I miss you more than I can express, I feel like my heart has been ripped out but I have all my memories, pictures, & a recording. I love You with all my heart... You are MY SON , MY HEART..
