

Patricia Lynn Freeman Amato

February 9, 1953 - February 22, 2013

Patricia (Pat) Lynn Freeman Amato, of Seminole, FL died Friday, February 22, 2013. She was the loving wife of Joseph R. Amato, Jr.

She was born February 9, 1953 in Altavista, a daughter of Margie Hodges Freeman of Hurt and the late Wilbur Hastings Freeman. Those who knew Pat knew that she loved family, life, and laughter. Pat was extremely creative and possessed a free soul.

In addition to her husband and mother, she is survived by two daughters, Nicole A. Frystak and Natalie Amato; one son, Alexander Freeman Amato; a granddaughter, Emma Grace Frystak; two sisters, Dru Barbee and her husband Jerry and Anita Phillips and her husband Tom all of Altavista; one brother, Bryan Freeman and his wife Angela of Philadelphia, PA; a brother-in-law, Richard Hawkins of Evington; ten nieces and nephews; and three great nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by a brother, Billy Freeman and a sister, Donna F. Hawkins.

The family suggests that those wishing to make memorials consider the National Down Syndrome Congress, 30 Mansell Court, Suite 108, Roswell, GA 30076.

A funeral service will be conducted at 1:00 p.m., Wednesday, February 27, 2013 at Lewis W. Mohn Funeral Home in Seminole, FL. The family will receive friends prior to the funeral beginning at 11:30 a.m.

“ We would practice in my front yard. Me, Paula, Donna, Donna Mann, and Pat -- the routines--Pat was the quiet one- a young pixie with short hair and an impish grin. She was always there in front smiling, twirling- forever young in my mind in all our hearts marching through this life in love and laughter with a warm and loving family. God's marching band must've needed her. I'm sure Paula was waiting.

“ When we were Pre-Freshman(8th grade '75)and I was in the Altavista High Marching Band, all of us Trombones were on the front line of the band. Patricia was right in front of me as the Head Majorette, she would have to turn around to start the band playing a song in the parades by twirling her baton over her head. She would turn around and be facing me about 3 feet in front of me and would often look at my eyes and smile. I will never forget her beautiful face and smile the rest of my life.

My Deepest Condolences Dru and Family.

*With loving memories,
